

October 2019 Newsletter

Hello OSTP families and happy fall!

This month we will continue to work with the themes of fall and celebrations around the world. We have been cooking up some great fall themed recipes and the children have been happily creating projects throughout this past month. Some of the children have been participating in sewing as well. They have been creating different shaped pillows as they learn how to sew.

Starting this month we will start practicing fire drills. This is to ensure the safety of the children and staff in case of an emergency. Each month we will practice using a different exit. We have already talked about what to do in case of an emergency and where to meet in case of separation with the children. We will continue to talk about these drills to ensure that all the children feel safe and comfortable about them. Because the afternoons are different from the school day, our drills will look a little different. We will not have the alarms going off; instead, a staff person will announce a fire drill and we will be with the whole group not by classes. In case you should arrive at the time of this drill, please let us finish before signing your child out.

Please remember that if your child will not be attending on a scheduled OSTP day, a note, email or phone call to the program would be helpful.

Thank you,

Melanie, Jeanie, Mary M., Mary G., Erik, Cara and Roberta
