Museum of Our Industrial Heritage

On January 17th, OSTP took 21 kids to the Museum of Our Industrial Heritage located in Greenfield, MA. On the bitter cold afternoon, the kids learned about various manufacturing companies that once flourished in our area, operated many different types of tools that were built in the area, and had a blast. You could see the smiles from a mile away.

During the summer months, the museum offers free hands-on activities for kids on Fridays & Saturdays. Check with the museum for more details and dates.

Winter-Spring Enrichments 2020

OSTP will be offering various enrichments this winter-spring session. Please be on the lookout for the forms that should be available in a week, or two. In addition, if you have a skill, or know of someone who would love to teach/offer an enrichment to kids, we would love to add it to the list. Please let me know if you have an idea for an enrichment and would love to teach it.

Mason Jar Snowmen

We recently wrapped up a fun project where we transformed mason jars into snowmen. The kids had fun customizing them, and transforming them into cool lasting pieces.

A few Mason jar snowmen the kids made.

Looking For Items

OSTP is always looking for games, craft supplies, fabric, paper, supplies for projects. OSTP is a great place to donate those unwanted items!!!

During a 2-hour delay, OSTP starts 2 hours later @ 9am
